

Center for Learning Group Study Rooms Guidelines

- The rooms are available for use by GCC students, faculty and staff.
- The rooms are primarily to be used for group work. A “group” is up to four people.
- Scheduling of the rooms in advance is not necessary. Availability and usage is on a first-come, first-served basis. Use of the room is limited to two-hour time periods.
- These rooms are not sound proof. Users should maintain voice and noise levels at a normal, conversational level.
- The Center for Learning assumes no responsibility for the loss or damage of any personal property left in a study room.
- All other applicable Center for Learning policies apply to the group study rooms. This includes student code of conduct policies.
- Windows may not be obstructed, and doors will be accessible at all times.
- The Center for Learning reserves the right to inspect study rooms at any time and to remove unauthorized materials or prohibited items.